The image shows a YouTube video player interface. The title of the video is "Duplex ultrasound R leg". Below the title, there is a list of findings from a duplex ultrasound of the right leg:

- no deep venous pathology
- neovascularization at SFJ
- incompetent GSV from 10 cm below the SFJ
- large incompetent SPJ – 'roller coaster' reflux upwards into Giacomini vein and further into the GSV
- CEAP right: C1,2,3,4a,4b_s Ep As Pr2,3,4,5

The video player includes a progress bar at the bottom and a "PLUS DE VIDEOS" button.
